PLAYING THE GAME

The player with the highest Bendomino double starts the game by placing the piece on the center of the table.

If no double was drawn, the highest Bendomino number should be played. (Example: 6/5)

Taking turns in a clockwise direction, each player tries to match a Bendomino by number to either end of the Bendomino chain. To be accepted the new piece needs to match but also has to fit!

Depending on your strategy, you can play your Bedominoes in an open game or a close game position.

Example ① - Open game Position:

The new Bendomino only needs to have a matching number, since it can be played 2 ways (to the right or left)

Example ② - Closed game Position:

The new Bendomino needs to have a matching number and needs to turn in the proper direction. In this example, only a Bendomino turning to the right can be played.

CONNECTING PIECES:

Each Bendomino must be connected evenly with other pieces to ensure accuracy of the game.

DRAW:

If players do not have a Bendomino that can be played, they must draw one piece from the stock. If the piece they draw can be played, they can immediately play it.

NOTE ON PLAY:

Players can decide to draw a Bendomino and pass their turn even if they have playable pieces.

BLOCKED POSITIONS:

Either end of the Bendomino game can be blocked when :

- A- No matching numbers are available.
- B- No matching pieces can fit,
- C- One end of the game is trapped in a dead end,
- D- Both ends connect (rare).

NOTE ON BLOCKED POSITIONS:

If both ends of the Bendomino chain are blocked, each player draws a Bendomino until the stock is empty.

END OF A ROUND

A round ends when:

- A player has no Bendominos left to play.
- The stock is empty and players cannot play any pieces.

WINNING A ROUND

You win a round when:

- You play all your pieces.
- No pieces can be played by any player and you have the lowest point total.

(The point total is the total number of dots on your remaining Bendominos).

SCORING

The winner of a round scores the dot points from all opponents' remaining Bendominos.

WINNING THE GAME

The First player to score 100 points wins the game.

VARIATIONS

WILD DRAW:

For a more aggressive game, when players do not have a playable piece they must continue to draw until they get a playable piece or until the stock is empty. (All other basic rules apply)

NO DRAW:

When players do not have a matching piece, they pass their turn instead of drawing. (All other basic rules apply)

NO DRAW - 2 TEAMS OF 2 PLAYERS:

In this version, each player draws 7 pieces at the start of the game, so there is no stock. players take turns and only use their individual pieces. a team wins a round when one team member is declared the winner (see basic rules). the winning team scores the dot points from the remaining bendominoes of the losing team.
