SET UP!

Open out the game board and lay on a flat surface. Each player takes a game counter slots it into its base and places it on the start circle. If you have more than 6 players you can always play in teams taking it in turns to answer the questions. If playing in teams conferring is allowed. Decide who will play first. Someone will need to be the Question master throughout the game. This player can not be playing in the game or part of a team.

GET SET!

Players/teams will take it in turns to answer specific questions from the cards available. The first player/team rolls the dice and moves the number of spaces shown on the dice. The maximum spaces you can move is 3 spaces. Whichever topic spot the player/team lands on, a player must answer a question on that topic. The player is asked by the Question Master to pick a number 1-6 which dictates the question asked. If a correct answer is given, the player can stay on the spot they have landed.

An incorrect answer will result in a move back one spot. Players only answer questions when they land on a spot but they do not answer questions if the player/team moves 1 space back. The player must then wait their next turn to roll the dice again and resume.

YOU'RE OFF!

Once you move off, the "topic" spot now dictate the question. When you land on a transport spot (ie) a boat, train, ship or plane you must consult the key below and follow that directive.

TRANSPORT SPOTS!

You are in luck! Take a plane ride along the flight path onto the next marker! You must await your next turn to take the next question.

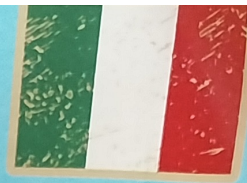

You've picked the slow train! Miss a go! When it is your next turn roll the dice and move on taking on the next topic spot you land on.

A balloon ride backfires - move back 3 spots following the line back! You must await your next turn to roll the dice.

Lost at Sea! Miss 2 goes! When you have missed 2 goes you may then roll the dice and take on the question spot you land on.

As you race around the board there are 5 different topics of questions you will have to consider. There are Capital City, Where To, City Snaps, Food and Drink and Check In questions.
